Flight To-day

ALONG THE HUDSON RIVER

He Was in the Air 31 Minutes and Maintained an Average Height of 200 Feet—Went Over Warships.

New York, Oct. 4.—Wilbur Wright made a successful aeroplane flight this morning. He left his headquarters at 9:07 and flew up the Hudson river. Circling over the battleships he started on his return trip, arriving at the starting point. Wright was up in the air for thirty-one minutes. He maintained a height average of two hundred feet.

Thousands of sailors on the warships in the river crowded the decks of their vessels, adding their cheers to the enormous crowds on the shore as Wright sped up the Hudson. He passed over the foreign ships, but turned just before he reached the American vessels.

On returning to the starting point he declared: "I flew low to escape the air currents from the sky-scrapers and so that the people could see."

He will make an unofficial flight this afternoon if the conditions are good. He believes that he can easily make ten miles and remain up an hour, which will win him the Hudson-Fulton prize offered to aeronauts.

MAY DECLARE WAR.

On Sultan of Morocco Because of Alleged Aid to Tribesmen.

Lisbon, Oct. 4.—The Spanish cabinet to-day is considering the advisability of declaring war against Mulai Hafid, the sultan of Morocco, convinced that the activity of the tribesmen is a result of reinforcements from Mulai. The Madrid police are meeting with great difficulty in checking the mob, bent on seeking the Moroccan embassy. It is thought that the sultan is encouraging the tribes to declare a holy war to drive the Christians out of Africa.

TWELVE-HOUR HARANGUE.

Judge Dewey of Boston Took 25-Minutes For Lunch.

Boston, Oct. 4.—Boston Commons probably never saw a more extraordinary feat than Saturday when for 12 hours, with but one intermission of 25 minutes, for lunch Judge Henry P. Dewey, who has announced himself as the "Theocratic" candidate for governor, talked continuously upon the "Established Religion of the State."

Judge Dewey attracted much attention on the bench of the municipal courts some years ago by original interpretations of the law. Four years ago he ran for mayor of Boston and caused comment by appearing upon the platform attired in evening dress; the past year he used the Good Government association for $75,000,000 for alleged slander regarding his intentions during the campaign, but lost the verdict.

THEY WAITED IN VAIN
FOR END OF WORLDGathering of People at West Derby
Were Disturbed By Many Temporal Signs.

West Derby, Oct. 4.—This town has just emerged and partially recovered from an experience similar to that of Westbury, Mass., Derby being the mecca of Vermont Holy Rollers during the recent end of the world vigil.

An apostle of this singular sect came here several weeks ago and began a vigorous campaign, announcing the near approach of the millennium. It is said that several Derby people, who at first looked on the movement with amusement, became strenuous believers. It is also said that the converts were given a vigorous treatment in preparation for the great event, one saint being placed the candidate in a prostrate position and then administered a long and severe drubbing "to drive out evil and inoculate the convert with the holy ghost."

One aged man, who possessed of considerable means, gave away several thousand dollars and was about to dispose of his farm in like manner when his son arrived and succeeded in getting himself appointed the old man's guardian just before the papers were drawn. Many of the farmers neglected their crops and there was a general disregard of things temporal.

Unlike their Duxbury brethren the Rollers gathered here did not believe that they were on ground exempt from the coming end of the world. They believed that after eight days of prayer and meditation there were to be carried skyward in a white cloud, while their wicked neighbors would be cut into small pieces and still living, float about in their own blood.

The local pilgrims met on each of the eight evenings at various private houses the sessions being held in darkness. Although for the most part the community regarded them with amusement and pity a few heartless practical jokers could not let the situation pass unnoticed. On one evening one of these funny fellows attended the Rollers' meeting while his friends assembled on a neighboring hill with a radio, megaphone and a large quantity of brushwood. When the fanatics had worked themselves into a proper pitch of excitement he stole out and signalled the hill-top. Immediately a bonfire was touched off, the shrill notes of the bugle pierced the evening quiet, and the man with the megaphone set him to shouting such as "to satisfy the boys' most sanguine expectations."

On another evening the Rollers received an equivoal startling shock from an altogether different source. A Canadian steamboat, stranger to the Vermont end of Lake Memphremagog, came down to Newport to be inspected by government officials. When the tried out the searchlight, with no malice forethought they happened to direct its powerful rays into the windows of a house where some fifty of the Rollers were assembled. In an instant every person in the room was on his feet and a rush for the door followed. The effect was such as to "let's come, it's come!" rolling in the road and leaping in the air. When they found that it was a little Canadian steamer instead of the angel Gabriel their faith was undiminished and they resumed their prayer and meditation.

On the evening following the landing of a party who had been up the lake for a clam bake and added somewhat to the noise of the brass band upon landing served as another false alarm.

THE CUT-RATE DRUGGISTS WIN.

Judge Rules That Wholesaler's Contracts in Restraint of Trade.

Cincinnati, Oct. 4.—"Cut-rate" druggists won a victory yesterday through a decision handed down by Judge Hall, former of the commonwealth court at Cincinnati. O. W. D. Freeman sued Ralph W. Miller, one of his agents, for $21,000 damages. Freeman alleged a contract with Miller in which the latter was bound not to sell any of the Freeman product to any druggist who would sell it at less than the retail price specified by the manufacturer. Miller sold a quantity of the Freeman preparation to a Cincinnati "cut-rate" druggist. Miller demurred to the suit, alleging the contract with Freeman was in violation of the Valentine anti-trust law. Judge Hoffheimer sustained the demurrer, declaring the contract was in restraint of trade against public policy and a clear violation of the law.

Thursday evening.

Dr. Minard is improving his house by a new coat of paint.

The half old child of Eugene Hanson was buried Sunday afternoon.

Next Friday night is "ladies' night" at the grange and you will all want to be present.

Don't forget the harvest supper on Tuesday evening. The ladies will be glad to see you all, and you will feel it was "well to be there." Admission for adults 15c, children 10c.

The social and dance given by M. W. Hyland to the members of the grange in their hall at Washington last Saturday night was largely attended, and at the close the members expressed their thanks to their worthy master by a hearty clapping of hands, and as he attempted a few words of response he learned that for once, at least, for a few minutes "silence was golden."

Man Supposed to Be Alchibald Wright of Cambridge Junction Found Dead
in Worcester, Mass.,
Hotel Yesterday.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 4.—A man believed to be Alchibald Wright of Cambridge Junction, Vt., was found dead in his room at the New England hotel on Main street yesterday afternoon with the gascock wide open. The police believe it is a case of suicide.

Mrs. Ella Langston, the hotel keeper, detected the odor of gas coming from Wright's room and he was found on a couch. An empty revolver was lying beside him on the floor and the gas was turned on. A box of cartridges was also found in the room.

A letter in the man's pocket addressed to Archie Wright, Cambridge Junction, Vt., offered him employment at the Taunton state hospital, provided he would apply at once. In his pocket also was an accident policy in the Vermont accident insurance company of Rutland, taken out through the agency of B. C. Hawley, supposedly of that city.

According to Mrs. Langston, Wright applied for lodging Saturday night about 9 o'clock and said he had no money. Not wishing to turn the man away she gave him a room for the night. She saw nothing further of him until she discovered his body yesterday afternoon.

The state was flooded with temperance speakers last week while the ministers made strong pleas for temperance.

M. S. ENDOWMENT.

Burden on Generous Montpelier People

Lightened.

Principal Bishop of Montpelier seminary reports that since Friday evening over $1,000 has been received from friends of the institution who were a little slow in getting their subscriptions in. This will make the amount which was pledged by Montpelier people considerably smaller and more is expected to come in within the next few days. It is not thought to be necessary to sell the Cummings place on Seminary hill to raise the remainder. Three new men will be placed on the committee including Joseph A. DeBoer at their meeting tonight to discuss means for raising the amount pledged.

$531.64 TAGS
WERE SOLDLadies Consider Their "Tag
Day" A Success

42 GIRLS WORKED HARD

Miss Josie Holden Turned in the Largest Amount, Which Was $53.05—Donations Are Still Coming In.

The efforts of the Ladies' Hospital Aid society through their willing helpers in Saturday's "tag-day" resulted in contributions of $531.64 for the maintenance of a free bed at the Barre City hospital. Most of this amount was secured through the "tagging" of any and every person who came in sight of the forty-two girls from 9:30 Saturday morning to late that night, although some of it has been made since without the formality of sticking on a red tag. The opportunity is still open to such others who may wish to contribute toward this good purpose.

Mrs. Joe W. Jackson, president of the Hospital Aid society, or Dr. Joe W. Jackson will receive the contributions.

The receipts for the day were as follows:

School children (Friday)	$38.37
Granville	14.32
South Barre	0.23
City	463.02
Later donations	6.00
Total	$531.64

The forty-two girls worked hard and they were generally met with some kind of generosity, although a great many people complained that they had left their pocketbooks at home and would see them later. Generally the "later" never came. The one who turned in the largest amount was Miss Josie Holden, whose box held $53.05, while Miss Jessie Robertson was second with $28.30.

There was none sign of discrimination in approaching people, and about everybody who appeared on the street had a chance to give. On enterprising young lady went into a restaurant and coraled the whole of "The Isle of Spices" company, and they had to give something. One Montpelier man with a large pocketbook and a generous heart was "tagged" three times, the first for five dollars, the second for two and the third for half a dollar. Taken altogether the ladies are pleased with the result of the day.

DOUBLE OBSERVANCE

In Pastor's First Anniversary and His Church's Twelfth.

Yesterday was the first anniversary of the date when Rev. J. D. MacKenzie assumed the pastorate of the Presbyterian church in this city, and it was also within a few days of the 12th anniversary of the dedication of the church. Both events were commemorated by a special sermon which the pastor delivered at the regular services yesterday morning.

He took the text for his sermon from Ezra, third chapter, parts of the second and sixth verses: "Then stood up Joshua, the son of Josedak, and his brethren, the priests and builded an altar of the God of Israel. But the foundation of the temple of the Lord was not yet laid." The speaker said in part: "This was at the time that the Jews returned to Jerusalem after having been in Babylon and the city was changed by the ravages both of war and of time. God inspired them upon their return to rebuild and first they built an altar to the Lord God of Israel, so we find that good times began with the building of an altar."

The city that we build is the city of character and every thought and action mer stones in the temple. We cannot change our characters in a day, but the Christian character is obtained only through persistent effort. If it is impossible for us to build the temple at once, it is better that we build the altar at once. We cannot do all that we would like to do, but we can all do something. We cannot gain all that we struggle for, but we can gain something. We cannot all give alike, but that is no reason that we should not all give something. We can begin with the altar and do not need to wait for the temple.

The speaker then in referring to the anniversary, said: "To-day we stand in a special day, as the 12th anniversary of this church will come in a few more weeks and this is the first anniversary of my pastorate with you. Some hearts are filled with many memories. Some here could tell of the beginning of the church, of the self sacrifice that made possible a Presbyterian church in this city. The work was begun many years before the building of this church when meetings were held in various halls in the city and in the old Methodist church. Men of work and courage worked together until this beautiful church home was opened for worship. This was not done without labor and sacrifice. The ladies, as well as the men, furnished much of the work and sacrifice. Such effort and faith was not in vain, and the cause will continue to prosper in this city."

BAND APPRECIATION.

A Barre Man Expresses Sentiments of the City to Citizens' Band.

The Barre Citizens' band gave the closing concert of the series of twenty bar gained for by the city council at the park stand yesterday afternoon. The following letter represents its sentiments of the community pretty well: "The band concert given in the park yesterday afternoon was one of the best and closed the series given during the season. Barre has reason to feel justly proud of its new organization. Having been organized in the early spring, it today ranks with the best bands of the state. Its members are all Barre citizens, which speaks well for the musical ability of the city.

"That the band and its concerts have been greatly enjoyed and appreciated has been proven by the large attendance, which at times has nearly filled the park and adjacent lawns to the capacity. The band at its organization was very fortunate in securing Mr. Geo. E. White as its teacher and director, for the success of any musical organization much depends on the man who wields the baton, and Barre citizens, as well as the band members, should show a hearty appreciation of Mr. White and his work. Neither would we be forgetful of the officers of the band and its members in general, who have given time and energy for the general interest of the enterprise. Let the good beginning made go on. A hustling city like Barre needs just such organizations. Give it your support and encouragement. It will add to the music and instruments have to be provided for, band-room expenses, etc. When the boys have their fair and tag day to raise money to meet expenses, show them your appreciation of the musical evenings they have given us by helping them liberally."

Arthur Parkhurst pleaded guilty to the charge of breach of the peace for quarreling with his family last night and he paid a fine of $5 with costs of $3.00. He was arrested about midnight last night by Officer Hamel, who was called to his home by telephone. The respondent's son, Ernest Parkhurst, was put onto the witness stand and he told the court that his father was drunk and that he struck him when he was trying to quiet him.

Giovanni Balduzzi was found sleeping off his jag on the ground on North Main street by Officer Hamel at 11:30 o'clock last night and this morning he pleaded guilty to a first offense of intoxication and paid a fine with costs amounting to $11.94.

The mixed foursome finals were also played off, resulting in a victory for Mrs. C. A. Tolson and O. J. Matheson over Mrs. Bartlett and John Daniels, two up and one to play. The semi-finals in this competition resulted in Mrs. Bartlett and Mr. Daniels winning from Miss Wheelock and H. G. Woodruff and in a victory for the final winners of the tournament over Mrs. H. G. Woodruff and James Rhind.

The special prize offered for the five best net scores in the men's weekly tournament during the summer was won by William Marr, whose five scores were 72, 66, 73, 66, and 72, total 349. The special "ringer" competition was won by Donald W. Smith. This "ringer" contest was the best selected score during the summer's competition. The prizes of the year were well distributed among the members of the club, and more than the usual interest has been shown in the various competitions.
